RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Computational Clinical Science Lab, Yale University

June 2026 – Present

Lab Manager & Research Coordinator

PI: Shirley Wang, Ph.D.

Behavioral Assessment of Self-Injury Lab, Smith College

September 2023 - Present

Research Assistant

PI: Stephanie Jarvi Steele, Ph.D.

- Assisted with data collection and management for studies on self-injury and self-disgust, and self-injury and parenting
 - Coordinated recruitment of participants in-person and via flyers ($n = 128$) from mental health treatment centers

- Independently led in-person recruitment, developing communication skills with study participants by articulating study goals and consent procedures
 - Cleaned data and ran statistical analyses/visualizations in R
- Worked as a principal coder on a qualitative study about therapy experiences of individuals with a history of self-injurious thoughts and behaviors ($n = 25$)
 - Observed hour-long semi-structured interviews with participants
 - Developed code list with PI through grounded theory framework
 - Trained 2 junior research assistants in coding transcripts, lab tasks, and facilitated consensus
- Coded clinical interviews ($n = 15$) for a mixed-methods poster examining qualitative identification with self-injury and data from Implicit Association Tests (IATs)

Department of Psychology, Smith College
Honors Thesis Student

January 2024 - Present

Advisor: Stephanie Jarvi Steele, Ph.D.

An Examination of Disorder Identity and Non-Suicidal Self-Injury in a Clinical Sample of Adults

- Developed an original research study aiming to:
 - Examine group differences in disorder identity by history of non-suicidal self-injury (NSSI) and presence of borderline personality disorder (BPD) symptoms
 - Identify clinical correlates of disorder identity
 - Assess the predictive value of disorder identity as a predictor of NSSI history
- Created data analysis plan for quantitative aims
- Recruited participants ($n = 70$) from clinical populations through in-person outreach and targeted distribution of flyers

Cognition and Affect Research and Education Lab
McLean Hospital/Harvard Medical School
Student Visitor

May 2024 – August 2025

PI: Courtney Beard, Ph.D.

- Gained experience in behavioral coding by assessing parent-child interactions and anxiety traits from recorded videos ($n = 48$)
- Data management and entry
 - Created research instruments in REDCap
 - Entered and scored data from eligibility screening measures (e.g., KSADS, WASI-II)
- Conducted literature reviews on affective disorders and parent-child dynamics, ran statistical analyses for lab posters

Psychotherapy Research Lab, Smith College
Undergraduate Research Assistant

October 2022 – September 2023

PI: Nnamdi Pole, Ph.D.

- Conducted literature reviews on psychotherapy procedures and self-relevant emotions
- Analyzed linguistic data from archival therapy transcripts and recordings
 - Coding for specific thematic patterns across sessions of therapy (e.g., Q-Sort)

ACADEMIC EXPERIENCE

Peer Writing Tutor, Jacobson Center for Writing, Teaching, & Learning

AY 2025-2026

Teaching Assistant, Introduction to Research Methods
Smith College (PSY 202)

Spring 2024, Spring 2025

Professor: Katherine Clemans, Ph.D.

Teaching Assistant, Introduction to Psychology

Fall 2024

Professors: Brianna McMillan, Ph.D., Michelle Wick, Ph.D., & Phil Peake, Ph.D.

Teaching Assistant, Statistical Methods for Research
Smith College (PSY 201)

Spring 2024

Professor: Katherine Clemans, Ph.D.

CLINICAL EXPERIENCE

Kindermourn Grief Counseling, Charlotte, NC

May 2023 – August 2023

Supervisors: Kaela O'Donnell, LCSW; Brooke Yates, LCSW.

- Coordinated between clinical staff and non-profit employees for partnership offering social and emotional learning (SEL) classes to students (ages 4-13)
- Trained in SEL curriculum and independently led sessions of 10-20 students
- Assisted with administrative tasks and attended weekly 90-minute clinician meetings to review cases and observe clinical decision-making

SERVICE AND COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

SERVICE TO DEPARTMENT

Psi Chi International Honor Society, Smith College chapter co-president

2025 - 2026

Smith College Psychology Club, Co-president

2024 - 2026

- Established club to increase the visibility of psychology opportunities on campus and build community between students and faculty
- Led workshops and panels focused on internship applications, career opportunities in clinical psychology, and finding scholarships and funding for psychology students
- Created a resource website for psychology undergraduates using GitHub (linked here)

SERVICE TO COMMUNITY

FOR Students, Volunteer

2019 - 2025

- Organized the first student-led branch of the non-profit “FOR Students” in several NC high schools
- Developed the program infrastructure, curriculum, and materials for dissemination to high school students and administrators
 - “Students FOR Students” is a student-driven mission to implement peer-led small groups that encourage authentic conversations about mental health in high schools, preparing students for a healthy transition to young adulthood (learn more)
- Assisted as a co-author in a 501(c)(3) grant proposal focused on youth mental health and suicide prevention
- Synthesized evidence-based mental health resources for the organization webpage

RELEVANT COURSEWORK

Spring 2026 Seminar: Time Series Analysis (MTH 391)

	Capstone in Statistical and Data Sciences (SDS 410) Semester-long project for Pedal People Inc. – developed emissions calculator for CO2 produced through waste collection habits (repository)
Fall 2025	Machine Learning (CSC/SDS 293) Machine learning and natural language processing model to detect AI-authored essays (code) Advanced Programming in R (SDS 270) R package development and documentation for analyzing video game data (code)
Spring 2025	Topics in Advanced Clinical Psychology – High Risk Behaviors in Psychopathology (PSY 352-hrb) Final project: Mock-NIH Grant proposal, “Ecological Momentary Assessment of Elevated Post-Discharge Suicide Risk and Nonsuicidal Self-Injury”(link) Research Method and Design (SDS 290) Linear Algebra (MTH 211)
Fall 2024	Introduction to Computer Science (CSC 110) Discrete Mathematics (MTH 153)
Spring 2024	Health Psychology (PSY 140) Multiple Regression (SDS 291)
Fall 2023	Colloquium: Abnormal Psychology: Evidence Based Practice (PSY 287) Introduction to Statistics (SDS 201) Laboratory: Reproducible Scientific Computing with Data (SDS 100)
Spring 2023	Abnormal Psychology (PSY 150) Introduction to Research Methods (PSY 202)

RELEVANT SKILLS

Technical Skills	Programming languages: - Advanced: R/R Studio - Intermediate: Python, HTML - Basic: MATLAB Software development: - Original R package development and documentation (example) - Version control and collaboration using Git/GitHub - API integration Data Analysis Machine learning: - Strong understanding of model selection and hyperparameter optimization through cross validation grid search (example: detecting depression)
-------------------------	---

- Natural Language Processing (e.g., Term frequency-Inverse document frequency)
 - Data Visualization
 - Geospatial data mapping (R: leaflet)
 - Statistical graphing (R: ggplot2; Python: Matplotlib, Seaborn)
 - Data Management: Data wrangling and cleaning using R/R Studio and Python
 - Survey Creation: REDCap, Qualtrics
 - Qualitative coding (e.g., grounded theory framework, Q-Sort)
 - Behavioral task coding
- Research Methods
- Organizational/Operational
- IRB protocols
 - Writing grant proposals and funding applications
 - E.g., 501(c)(3), research (NIH format)
 - Industrial-level budget management
 - Supervising and training junior team members
